ABOUT THE SUNEARTH

Empire Series Collectors

The Empire collectors' versatility make them the best choice for multi-family or commercial systems. Large diameter Type-M copper riser tubes allow the Empire collector to be used in glycol forced circulation, drainback, or direct system configurations depending upon the climate and application. Available with 1.5" internal headers, the Empire makes multi-family and commercial projects simpler to design, install, and maintain.

America's leading distributors and contractors have made the SunEarth Empire Series liquid flat plate collectors the solar professional's first choice. Solar water heating should never be a gamble. With SunEarth's Empire Series collectors, professional contractors rest easy. They know their customers will enjoy trouble free and persistent energy savings for many years to come.
